DAY 2: MANGKUNEGARAN - CANDI CETO - CANDI SUKUH - BATIK LAWEYAN

We will pick up you in hotel and drive you to Pura Mangkunegaran. Pura Mangkunegaran is one of two palaces in Surakarta. According to devotees of ancient architectural beauty mention that Mangkunegaran Palace is the best preserved ancient Javanese architecture in town. Mangkunegaran is the only palace in Indonesia opens its private domain for public. Pura Mangkunegara is traditionally a palace of Mangkunegaran State ruled by Mangkunegara I and his descendants. Historically, this state was founded Raden Mas Said or Prince Sambernyawa in 1757. Then we will drive you to Ceto Temple. Ceto Temple is a fifteenth century Javanese Hindu temple. Ceto is one of several temples built on the northwest slopes of Mount Lawu in the fifteenth century. By this time, Javanese religion and art had diverged from Indian precepts that had been so influential on temples styles during the 8-10th century. This area was the last significant area of temple building in Java before the island's courts were converted to Islam in the 16th century. Then we will drive you to Suku Temple. Suku Temple is a 15th century Javanese Hindu temple that is located on the western slope of Mount Lawu. Suku Temple has distinctive thematic reliefs from other candi where life before birth and sexual education are its main theme. Its main monument is a simple pyramid structure. In the evening we will drive you to Laweyan Village. Laweyan Batik Village is Solo's oldest and most famous Batik village, after the Kauman Village. The village is located at the heart of Solo with various heritage buildings that have a unique blend of Javanese, European, Chinese and Islamic architectural features surrounded by tall fences. Laweyan has been existed since the Kingdom of Pajang (1568-1586), the first Islamic kingdom in Java. Fossil man, ranking alongside Zhoukoudian (China), Willandra Lakes (Australia), Olduvai Gorge (Tanzania), and Sterkfontein (South Africa), and more fruitful in finds than any of these. An important feature of the site is the geology of the area. Originally a dome was created millions of years ago through tectonic uplifts. The dome was then eroded exposing beds within the dome which are rich in archeological records.

DAY 3: TRANSFER OUT
